Language Learning through Culture and Cooking (LLCC)

Working updates

The Language Learning through Culture & Cooking training online platform and resources are aimed at adult learning providers and community development agencies. The resources will provide new tools trainers can use to enable learners to enhance their learning outcome.

All partner organisations involved in the project have played an active role in delivering the Pilot Training Course in their localities. The impact of the course is to raise awareness on how to creatively link the topics of language learning, culture and cookery.

The train the trainer sessions introduced the training materials and online platform developed by the partnership to support their teaching and learning activities, working with a clear purpose: to help migrants learn the language of their host countries.

Some quotes:

- Eat. Sleep. Learn language. Repeat.
- It is never late to learn.

“Cooking is all about people. Food is maybe the only universal thing that really has the power to bring everyone together. No matter what culture, everywhere around the world, people eat together” (Guy Fieri).

Our project in a nutshell:

- We have tested the new training materials for intercultural awareness, language learning through culture and cooking
- The trainers explored the two manuals which have been written to support the training materials and helped to develop the Healthy Eating Handbook.
- We have prepared for the possible Covid-related situations in which we may have to deliver the project online.
- We prepared and delivered the pilot training course online and in local settings to Build Organisational Capacity on using cookery and culture as tools in adult learning.
- Our Online Resource Toolbox of lessons, materials, guidance and handbooks include interactive videos and exercises.
- We explored the Technique Handbook on Healthy Eating using traditional local Food and raising cultural awareness.
- We trained the trainers! The aim of the Pilot Training Course was to present trainers with the developed material and to make them familiar with the project philosophy.
